WE NOMINATE

Grace Mansfield McKittrick MacNeil, one of the Princeton Community's most gifted and long-visioned volunteers, who over the years with what might be termed "effortless grace" has mastered the knack, or technique, of making an hour yield one hour of productive work. This week, as National Girl Scouting observes the 50th anniversary of the establishment of its founding Troop (in Savannah, Georgia), the spotlight properly rests on this soft-spoken, 54-year old Princetonian—closely identified with Scouting for more than three decades and currently serving with distinction as chairman of the Girl Scouts' national, policy-framing Executive Committee.

Wife of the chief of New Jersey's Bureau of Social Research and Statistics, an integral part of the Department of Institutions and Agencies, Mrs. MacNeil and her deeply rooted concern for the development of young women of promise personally the evolution of an organization that in 1962 numbers some 3,500,000 members. Here in the Princeton Area alone, where she has been a member of the Girl Scout Council since 1939, the Scouts can point to an overall registration of nearly 600, the administration of 32 troops (including 16 Brownie Troops), and a program dedicated to giving each girl an opportunity "to find in herself something to help others."

While Mrs. MacNeil, a native of picturesque Natchez, Miss., and a member of the Class of 1929 at H. Sophie Newcomb College of Tulane University, was never a Girl Scout, she accepted her first post-college post as a professional Scout worker in preference to a "normal teaching position." Between 1930 and 1938, prior to becoming a permanent Princetonian, she was associated with the "National Staff": initially as a trainer in the Southeastern United States, later as an assistant to the director of the Field Department, and then as acting director of populous Region II which encompasses New York and New Jersey.

With the Girl Scouts providing outlets on the national, regional and local levels for her abilities and energies, Mrs. MacNeil, the mother of two daughters (one in her second year of graduate study at Bryn Mawr and the other a junior in Miss Fine's), has budgeted her time so effectively that she has found it possible to shoulder major responsibilities in a half-dozen areas. A past chairman of the Board of Trustees of Miss Fine's, she is chairman of the Planning Committee for the Princeton Day Schools, Inc., a past president of the Women's Auxiliary of Trinity Church, an active director of the Tulane Club of New York, and vice-president of the Council of National Organizations for Children and Youth.

"Elmsfield," the MacNeil home on the Cherry Valley Road, represents still another facet of Mrs. MacNeil's many-sided life. The name derives from historic "Elmscourt," her ancestral family home in Mississippi, one of the showpieces in the celebrated "Natchez Tour" and, still successfully operated under her management as a cattle and timber plantation. Around "Elmscourt," a beautifully refurbished tribute to a forgotten era in America Past, revolves Mrs. MacNeil's vibrant interest in 18th and 19th century history and her understanding of those driving forces that have been, and are, hallmarks of American civilization.

For sensing the significance of the Girl Scouts' 50th anniversary slogan, "Honor the Past — Serve the Future"; for willingly responding to a variety of community and national calls; for her capacities for sound leadership; she is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

This Is PRINCETON

WELL AND HIGH WATER
1.98 Inches Worth. The spewing geysers of the Township sewer system, flooded basements and marooned motorists rescued by rowboat all served as visual evidence, if Princeton residents needed any, that it rained here on Monday.

Come fast on the trail of last week's devastating wind and snowstorm, the rain spilled 1.98 inches of wet on Princeton and into its drainage system, according to the gauges maintained by the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association.

At the Stockton Street gauging station, the high was 9½ feet, 13½ feet above last week and only 2.3 feet below the record in August, 1955 during Hurricane Connie.

Confronted by dozens of spouting sanitary sewers, the Joint Sewer Operating Committee met Tuesday afternoon to consider rapid measures that might be taken in a hurry to close up chinks in the complex web of sewer pipes that underlies Princeton.

"Bad." "I've never seen it so bad," said Dr. William Kleinberg, chairman of the Township Board of Health. Dr. Kleinberg has been associated with the Board for about 12 years. Sanitary sewers were erupting along Valley Road (see photo, above); along River Road, where they spouted so high and with such force that man-hole covers spun around on the top of the geyser of water; along Harry's Brook (see photo) and "almost everywhere," according to Dr. Kleinberg.

SANITARY SEWERS OVERFLOW: Heavy rains that fell on already saturated ground Monday contributed to the overflow of sanitary sewers throughout the Township. On Valley Road (right) a sewer in the middle of the street spouted all day. Near Harry's Brook (left) a sewer gushed out of its pipes and sent its effluent into the brook itself (behind the trees in the background). (Staff Photos)

The exact cause—or causes—of the overflow elude health officials. According to Dr. Kleinberg, it might have been a single block in a trunk line. It might have been several blocks. It might have been serious breaks in the pipes. It might have been penetrating roots.

It might have been the frailty of pumps, already known to be under capacity. It might have been householders, illegally draining their flooded basements into the sanitary sewer system.

Or, it could have been combinations of all these factors.

How to Fix? In a hastily-called conference with Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman, Dr. Kleinberg suggested that the trouble might be ferreted out by means of a heavy ball on the end of a flexible cable. If such a ball and cable could be wormed through the entire sewer system, pipe by pipe, reasoned Dr. Kleinberg, any foreign objects could be removed, and the causes of stoppage determined within a month.

Health officials also believe that a survey should be made soon to find out how many illegal connections there are in to the sewer system. Illegally connected basement drains and gutters place heavy loads on sewers that were not designed to carry them.

"You can't really blame a man who finds a foot of water in his cellar for pulling the plug and letting it all drain into the sewer," comments Dr. Kleinberg. "But it is illegal, and we need to know how widespread these drains are, although gutters are actually more important."

Along with these concerns, Dr. Kleinberg and his colleagues are thinking about the open drains into Carnegie Lake, the size of the present sewer field which can't even carry the present load, to say nothing of what the future may drain into it, and they hope for action soon on implementing a sewer operating committee.

Help! While all this was going on, four intrepid motorists decided to brave Quaker Road and found themselves in the innumerable position of being ferried ashore.

At 2:30 p.m. Monday, Township police patrolled the road because of its high water, summoned the First Aid and Rescue Squad and its rowboat to pluck a Trenton driver and a Riverside, N. J. driver from the Squatters' Grove bridge.

At 4:37 p.m., two other Trenton drivers left the bridge via Rescue Squad rowboat. The cars had to remain until the waters receded at midnight Monday.

DAMAGE AT THE SHORE
Famillion House Lost. The lashing tides and winds along the coast last week demolished one Princeton vacation home completely and left others standing in a series of freak near-accidents.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Tamlinson, 14 Alexander Street, lost their 82-year-old ocean-front home at Mantoloking, but they were able to reach

It's Dog's Day

Next Monday at 8 p.m. Townships residents will gather, probably by phalanxes, for the public hearing on the dog-control ordinance.

The hearing, and the listening, will take place in Township Hall, where Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman and Committee members will confront the controversial question of total restraint versus just-little restraint.

The ordinance up for consideration is a moderate one, especially in that it requires a dog to be on a leash. Copies of it may be obtained at the Administrator's office, Township Hall.

THEIR SKATES ARE SHARP

For Coming Carnival, Two New Jersey figure skaters will be guest stars for the Princeton Ice Carnival to be held next Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Baker rink by the Princeton Skating Club.

Carol Nair, 14, of East Orange, and Pamela Schneider, 13, of Elberton, will be among the oldest and team skaters appearing in the show, augmenting the cast of 99 children and 40 adults from the Princeton area.

The two New Jersey skaters, still too young for international competition, may become replacements on the United States figure skating team which was wiped out in a tragic plane crash in Holland in 1961.

Miss Schneider won the national novice ladies championship in Boston in February and was tapped by Sports Illustrated as a "promising young skater" in the magazine's survey of the revival of American skating following the plane crash.

Miss Nair was fifth in the nationals this year and also won the 1961 Eastern senior ladies championship. In a story on skaters, Life magazine referred to her as having "a good head for the compulsory figures, all skaters must out on the ice."

Person To Person

We got to talking about the Iron Age (1000 B.C.) as the dim beginning of the foundation upon which our now complex Cory S. Kammler civilization rests. The trouble of course is that the Iron Age was the beginning of anything but "test." Each century thereafter saw more and more unrest, and human upheaval kept pace with man's technological advances even if man didn't learn how to keep his society abreast of his industrial strides. Now, there we go on a philosophical tangent, when what we really want to get around to, is that of you trace things all the way back to very beginnings, the Iron Age was the dim beginning of the automobile, which is possibly one of the most beneficial and results that man can imagine. So the Iron Age brought us the Mobile Age with all its blessings and all its complications. Whether your automobile brings you difficulties in proportion to its complex mechanism depends upon the car dealer. If, first of all, you obtain your car from a reliable dealer, and then have it maintained and serviced by such a conscientious dealer, you will seldom realize how really complex a mechanism it is. We strive with all our heart to be such a dealer. As one example, in the line of the business, a poor car is often referred to as a "load of iron," and when we get such a "load of iron," we consign it back to its beginnings or we wholesale it. We've never sell one to you. Kammler Buick - Pontiac Co., Route 206 opposite the Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

SYNOD BARS MINISTER
From Presbytery. The Rev. Dr. John H. Hick of 277 Hawthorne Avenue, a member of the faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary, has been barred from enrollment as a member of the Presbytery of New Brunswick, according to a decision announced this week by the Permanent Judicial Commission of the Synod of New Jersey of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. The reason, as announced by the clerical clerk of the Synod, is that Dr. Hick refused to "affirm his belief in the doctrine of the Virgin Birth of Jesus Christ."

The decision reverses that of the Presbytery, which voted to enroll Dr. Hick, and sustains the "complaint of 13 ministers and ruling elders." Both Dr. Hick and the Presbytery of New Brunswick have the right to appeal the Synod commission's decision to the General Assembly, national body of the church.

Dr. Hick appeared before the Committee on Candidates and Credentials of the New Brunswick Presbytery on April 10, 1961, and before the Presbytery on April 18, 1961. The Synod commission's statement said that at both appearances, while Dr. Hick did "not deny, defend, affirm, or believe in the doctrine of the Virgin Birth of Jesus Christ."

At Seminary Since 1960. Following these appearances, Dr. Hick was enrolled as a member of the New Brunswick Presbytery from the Presbyterian Church of England. He had been inaugurated as Stuart professor of Christian philosophy at Princeton Theological Seminary in February, 1960, with the approval of the General Assembly.

Prior to coming to Princeton, Dr. Hick served for three years as a professor at the School of Philosophy at Cornell University.

Dr. Hick issued a statement Tuesday in which he said, "I do not find my belief in the Incarnation upon the Virgin Birth tradition." The statement follows:

"The Theological question at issue is whether every Presbyterian minister must affirm a biological miracle in connection with the birth of Christ, or whether this is a secondary matter about which it is possible for some of us to be uncertain.

"I distinguish between the central Christian faith in the Incarnation, and the theologically peripheral story of the Virgin Birth, and following St. Paul, St. John, St. Mark and most of the other New Testa-

NEW FACES IN POLITICAL ARENA: Fortunately for Princetonians, when veteran public servants retire, newcomers step forward to take their places. This year, these five men will seek office for the first time: seated, Shaw Livormore, Jr., University faculty member, and James E. Andrews, public information director at Princeton Theological Seminary, the Democratic candidates for Borough Council; and John Hite, a director of Johnson & Johnson's Institute of Management in New Brunswick, who will be a Democratic candidate for Township Committee. Standing are John O. Green, Jr., an attorney for Johnson & Johnson, and Carl C. Schafer, Jr., proprietor of Schafer's Market, the Republican nominees for Township Committee. (Staff Photo)

ment writers I do not find my belief in the Incarnation upon the Virgin Birth tradition.

"I would therefore not exclude from the Presbyterian ministry those who decline to make the Christian Gospel stand or fall on something inessential, and I anticipate that what this matter is finally decided by the General Assembly of our church the broader view will prevail."

ACCIDENT IS FATAL

On Route One. Leopoldo Hernandez, 26, 169 Nassau Street, was pronounced dead on arrival at Princeton Hospital Tuesday afternoon following a two-car accident on Route One, half a mile south of Alexander Road. Mr. Hernandez was employed by Renwick's.

Also admitted to Princeton Hospital was James Broadway, 31, of 12 Birch Avenue, with a possible nose fracture, and two residents of Trenton, one of whom has severe scalp lacerations and a concussion and another who has a lacerated right ear and possible concussion. A fifth victim was treated and released.

All were taken to the hospital by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad. The two cars were both traveling north on Route One and apparently sideswiped after one had passed the other.

APPLICATION SUBMITTED
For Open Space Funds. Borough Council has approved unanimously a resolution to support the application of the Township for state funds for an open space program.

The Borough's support is expected to aid the Township in obtaining state funds to finance land acquisition under its program.

jected program. The resolution stated, however, that the Borough "reserves judgment" on the question of conservation of lands within its boundaries.

Alan W. Carrick, Borough councilman who served as liaison to the Township's Open Space Committee, introduced the resolution. He urged Borough support of the Township's application for state funds on the grounds that an open space program in the Township would benefit residents of the Borough.

State authorities, Mr. Carrick said, will give attention to the size of municipalities when considering the allocation of funds. In 1961 the state legislature established the "Green Acres Program" to make available $20,000,000 to counties and municipalities in matching funds to support land conservation programs.

Dr. Ellwood Godfrey reported that the Water Company's well No. 3 has been sealed and recased. The well has been "suspect" since the water supply was discolored last fall. The well was found to be free of contaminants and will be put back into operation.

Well No. 6, also suspect since the fall, will receive new sealing and casing in the near future, Dr. Godfrey said. Then this well will also be put back into operation. It was also found to be free of contaminants.

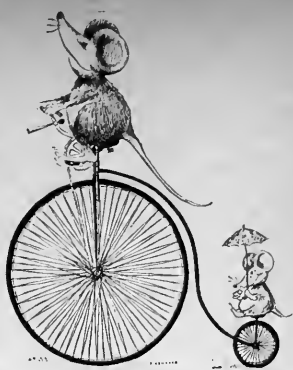

Council scheduled for April 10 a public hearing on two amendments to the parking ordinance. One amendment would designate as "no parking" zones the west sides of Maple Street from Nassau Street to Spruce Street and the east side of Chestnut Street from Nassau Street to a point just below the Borough fire house. The second amendment would make John Street

two-way from Hulfish Street to Quarry Street.

Council passed unanimously a resolution to assess property owners on Prospect Avenue, Cedar Lane, Nassau Street and Riverside Drive for the cost of sidewalk curbing done on these streets.

The Borough's 1962 budget of $1,111,326 was approved unanimously after a brief public hearing during which Mayor Henry S. Patterson explained major items under expenditures and revenues.

The budget provides for increases in wages and salaries.

An ordinance fixing the new salary figures passed unanimously.

Mayor Patterson's appointment of Mrs. E. Baldwin
Smith to the Public Library
Board was approved unanimously. Mrs. Smith will serve until January, 1966, filling the unexpired term of Mrs. Roger Nicholson, who has resigned
after four years on the board.

Council confirmed unanimously the appointment of Borello, Sr., to membership
in Princeton Engine Company
No. 1.

Mayor Patterson announced
the appointment of Robert F.
Mooney, Borough clerk, and Columbus Godfrey as the borough's representatives on a four-man committee of Borough and Township officials to devise a joint plan of fire budgeting for the two municipalities.

TWO FIRES ON SUNDAY
Arson Suspect in 1st
Members of the Princeton Fire Department responded to two general alarms in the pre-dawn
hours of Sunday morning fighting one blaze carried off by Chief Alfred W. Packer to the west of an apartment.

At 2:35 a.m., the town's three volunteer companies were summoned to 21 Park Place, an unoccupied house owned by Charles Weigel of 505 Mercer Road. Negotiations are being completed for its purchase
by the Borough and it will be demolished to make way for the proposed municipal park ing lot in that area.

"There is no doubt that some one had entered the house and set the fire in a closet at the foot of the first floor stairs," Chief Packer said.
"There is no electricity or heat
in the house, and while no evidence remained of material used to start the fire, I am sure it was arson."

Substantiating his belief is the police report that the man who called Borough Hall to report the fire refused to identify himself. Park Place residents here also called police a few minutes earlier to say that a prowler was in the neighborhood. The blaze was confined to the first floor of the two-story frame house.

At 6:07 a.m., the second alarm resulted from a fire in the garage-apartment at 90 Cleveland Lane. Chief Packer
said a cigarette was the cause,
the flames destroying a mattress, bed and a chair.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Sien-kiewicz are the tenants. The owner of the house at 90
Cleveland is C. Pardee Faulkner.

Boats provided by the least four drivers had

dampness all around—sev-

According to Township police, Graves stabbed his friend
James L. Hill, also of 31 Leigh Avenue, with a pocket knife
as Hill was attempting to calm him. Graves had apparently been drinking and was becoming loud and violent.

The stabbing occurred at 12:20 a.m. Sunday morning in front of 35 Leigh Avenue. Following the scuffle, Graves fled from the scene, but was caught at 6 a.m. by Sgt. Michael Lisi and Patrolman Anthony Daforti and taken to police headquarters.

News Of The THEATRES

"MACBETH" UNEVEN
But Sometimes Brilliant.
Milton Lyon directed a tantalizingly uneven cast in a lively, and sometimes brilliant, performance of "Macbeth" at McCarter Theatre on Saturday evening.

There were many moments of good theatre. The witches' confrontation of Banquo and Macbeth; Lady Macbeth's false welcome of King Duncan; the chilling shrieks of Lady Macduff as she fled into the audience and up the aisle; the idiotic porter; the eerie lighting of the specters; the beautiful clashing of Lady Macbeth's "out, damned spot!" scene; and the terrifying duel between Macbeth and Macduff were all superbly guided by Lyon. There was a murmur of wonder from the audience as the rolling cadence of Macbeth's soliloquy "tomorrow, and tomorrow and tomorrow" came across the footlights.

Dorothy Whitney, as Lady Macbeth, moved with finesse in the role to which Judith Anderson devoted half a lifetime. Tom Sawyer, as Banquo, had such outstanding stage presence, such warmth, that comments during intermission centered on the thought that he might have turned to the role of Macbeth, a truer portrayal of a man driven by remorse. Arthur Lithgow, as King Duncan, Georgeine Hall, as Lady Macduff, and young David Nempton, Macduff's son, were all excellent. Ramon Bieri made a fine Macduff.

Impetuous Swordsplay. Milton Lyon is developing an actor's eye for grouping his actors and for lighting effects. A realist, he enlisted the aid of the University's fencing instructor, Stanley Seiza with the result that the broadswords are handled by the actors with horrifying ferocity.

The only player who seemed to have moved beyond Lyon's control was Jon Cypher. Perhaps the role of Macbeth, or the demands of the curiously mannered acting of Shakespearean drama, overwhelmed him. Cypher gained little sympathy for Macbeth from the audience, although at times his playing showed sensitivity, as in the scene wherein he accuses his actually murdering King Duncan.

For the most part, he was load — and shouting it was not acting. His diction was blurred — and body English cannot carry the role. The soliloquy beginning, "I have lived long enough; my way of life is falling into the sea, the yellow leaf," words of grief, regret, and loneliness, he chanted like a plug of tobacco.

As a program note, this soliloquy was once recited from the heart to only a handful of people by John Barrymore. He had arrived, impulsively, one Christmas Day at the home of his former wife, Dolores Costello, his arms laden with gifts for his children.

He was greeted with the indifference that covers scars. In his awareness, he spoke the words of Macbeth, "And all that should accompany old age. As honour, love, obedience, troops of friends, I must not look to have; but in their stead, Curses, not loud, but deep, mouth-honour, breath, which the poor heart would fain deny, and dare not."

Conclusion by and large, the old play is worth seeing.

HERE'S THE PROGRAM

For McCarter. A variety of conferences and demonstrations will be held this spring in McCarter Theatre for drama groups throughout New Jersey. Organizations interested in participating have been asked to apply to the theatre for reservations as soon as possible.

First in line is a state-wide theatre conference and clinic on Saturday, March 31, from 3 p.m. through the evening performance of "Knight of the Burning Pestle." The conference has been arranged as an outgrowth of the successful conference last fall, and it will feature clinics on directing children's theatre, backstage technical work and reading groups.

The work.hop will also consider a plan for a New Jersey Associated Community Players organization. The fee for the clinic is $7, which includes dinner in Princeton and the play. The conference alone will be $2.

On April 2 at 8:30, there will be a demonstration of improvisational acting by members of Broadway: "From the Second City." It will be held in Murray Theatre on campus, and will be limited to 200 persons because of the size of the theatre.

The following Sunday, April 8, McCarter will be the scene of the finals of the New Jersey Theatre League Showcase and tour theatre competition. These will be held in the theatre at 8.

A festival of performing arts activities sponsored by New Jersey high schools will be held at the theatre on Wednesday, May 9. There will be an hour of one-act plays in the afternoon, miscellaneous performing arts presentations before dinner, and cuttings from full-length plays in the early evening.

Applications to the Festival (which will be non-competitive) should be made to Dr. Max Borgert, Department of Education, State House, Trenton. Admission is free.

WATCH US REHEARSE

Public Welcome. "All the King's Men," the Princeton Community Players' spring production, is now in rehearsal and the public is invited to come and see how a director and his actors put a show together.

Edward Earle, who is directing the Robert Penn Warren play, has announced that he will welcome questions from the audience — during rehearsal, that is — on the phase of staging and directing.

Rehearsals begin at 9:30 week nights and at 8 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays and are held in Murray Theatre on campus. The production will be given March 28 through 31. Members of the cast are Garrison Ellis, Michael Hayward, Shirley Kaufman, Martha Kelley, Esther Ussiskin, Edward Callanan and Antoine Schmitz.

 a small, humorous and brutally
 which comes across as an engaging human drama. Produced and directed by Leo McCarey, it follows the unshamed tradition of his two earlier pictures dealing with priests, "Going My Way" and
 "The Bells of St. Mary's." Satan is humor in both the satirical ideals of Communism and the angelic smile of female temptation in the film. Resisting the devil in occupied China are two Catholic priests, portrayed with believable vitality
 by William Holden and Clifton Webb. The temptations are in the persons of Weaver Lee as a Communist Army Colonel and France Nuyen as a young girl infatuated with Holden.

Based on a story by Pearl Buck, the film begins with an easy-going air, but soon turns into a series of brutal and melodramatic scenes, including the rape of Miss Nuyen, the machine-gunning of Lee's parents and the rebellion of the villagers. The movie sometimes slips into sentimentality and melodrama, but usually is moving and lifelike. In color and widescreen. C o m m e n t:
 slick cinema.

Lover Come Back (March 21-27) Hollywood as well as various rock 'n' roll stars follow the adage: when you've got a winner, don't stop. "Fellow Talk" made a lot of money two years ago. So why not put Rock Hudson, Doris Day and Tony Randall in another comedy of the same type. Call it "Lover Come Back." It will also make a lot of money.

That's the philosophy, and it usually doesn't work. However, this time it does. Mainly because the three stars are just plain good comedy tools. For females, there is Hudson and Miss Day's exquisite wardrobe.
 For males, there is Hudson as the sweet girl and Edie Adams as the sexy girl. And for everyone there is Randall with his best inferiority complex to date.

"Plot is unimportant. It deals with competition between two Madison Avenue advertising agencies. The story moves quickly with lots of laughs,
 lots of color and lots of horse
 play. Comment: son of "Pillow Talk," and just as entertaining."

THE GARDEN

Two Women (March 14-20) is not a pretty picture. It is the story of an earthy Italian peasant woman during World War II who tries to keep her teen-age daughter from learning the truths of love, both emotional and physical. As the Allies advance, she flees with

RUGED CLERIC: William

 priests of a mission in Communist China in the color drama
 "Satan Never Sleeps," continuing through Wednesday at the Playhouse.

her daughter to her home in the country.

There the women meet a sensitive schoolteacher, with whom the daughter falls in love. More interested in the mother, however, he is dragged off into the war, and the two women attempt to return to Rome. On the road, in a scene of unmatched brutality and realism, both mother and daughter are raped by a group of soldiers. The daughter's withdrawal and reconciliation with her mother form the remainder of the picture.

Sophia Loren delivers the best performance of her career
 as the mother, a performance which won her awards from the Cannes Film Festival and the New York Drama Critics.
 No longer a "sex-bomb," Miss Loren runs the range of human emotions with a sensitivity and brilliance rarely seen on film. She completely dominates the picture, carrying it over and above the sometimes tedious discussions of war and politics. Comment: The brutality of war, interpreted by the best acting performance of the year.

No Love for Johnnie (March 21-27) follows the English dramatic tradition of "Room At the Top" with a tale of love and politics, sensitively acted by Peter Finch. It is the story of Johnnie Byrne, a member of the House of Commons, who is slighted at having been bypassed as an cabinet choice.

After his frigid wife leaves
 him, Johnnie joins a left-wing group to oppose the Prime Minister. He falls in love with a model half his age, portrayed appealingly by Mary Peck,
 and pursues her until she finally rejects him. His wife offers to come back to him, but he learns that her affiliation with the Communist Party is the reason for his failure to achieve his cabinet position.

The story ends without comment, without a real ending almost, as if director Ralph

Thomas wished to probe into a man's character at a point in his life and then depart from it just as coldly. A long, passionate love-making scene
 and some brutally frank discussion are the added ingredients by which the producer, Betty Box, ensures an "adult"
 rating. Comment: incisive character analysis.

 countrified air, it will not chip.
 The pattern is so classic it could be used with any table,

 that you can play it up with

Wipe it all off with Vera's things, cut in huge, dripping

 you with a Princeton towel?

WE'RE IMPORTED

How About You? Yellow
 string gloves may not sound very much like St. Patrick's Day, but these were made in Ireland, and if you were, too, you'd better wear them when you go riding this Saturday.
 They're riding gloves, in case
 we forgot to tell you, and you buy them at Maorie Pearce.
 In the Thompson Building at 135 Nassau.

(You can park in the rear
 here, you know, without paying up a penny for your meter.) And clothes are 20% off during March.

Besides Irish gloves, Mr.
 Pearce has Scottish lambswool sweaters fashioned with V necks and long sleeves in Cambridge blue (a warm steel, if there is such a thing)
 and canary. Hunt vests are window-pane check in white on pale maize with real horn buttons to blow when you want somebody to hunt for YOU.
 And Basque berets if you wish to be basque in the sun of complements.

Worsted cheviot tweed has been used for a spring-weight suit with two side vents, two hacking pockets and a pleasant brown-grey hint-of-olive appearance.

With any of these things,
 you could wear a tie from Mr.
 Pearce's Tartan Tie-Bar, where you could find a clan from any of the three dozen in stock, or ask to have one ordered for you, if you have an off-beat clan like Svenson.

(Gordon, Grant Macleod or Black Watch come in sardage
 for a skirt or kilt, and Baehann, Royal Stewart and Macdonald-Kinross come in steamer robes.)

For rainy spring days,
 choose a slim English umbrella in black, of course, with a handle of cherry wood or wenge. We just said that to impress you, actually, wenge suggests that you use the more obscure term to impress your friends. Just the way we did.

Mr. Holland was a member of the NBC TV Opera Company for eight years before joining the faculty at Trenton State College. He has been featured on several RCA and Columbia recordings and has sung under Toscanini with the NBC Symphony.

Mr. Waeche, a graduate student in the department of aeronautical engineering at Princeton, sang with the Glee Club earlier this year in the Baeth "Magnificat" and in 1961 in the Haydn "Paukenmesse."

IT CAME FROM ABROAD: Hundreds of imports in daily use were tallied by Princeton League of Women Voters in the count conducted last Friday as part of its study of U.S. trade policy. Tally is not yet complete, but included are items ranging from jewelry, cameras and cars to children's toys and kitchen utensils such as those shown in these pictures. At right, Mrs. Earl C. Tanner, chairman of League's foreign policy study group, uses Japanese spoon to ladle flour into French pan held by Mrs. Robert Danielson. To table are a Danish vase, Italian canisters, and a Portuguese trivet. At far right, Harold Tanner, 2½, plays with toy dog from France; Susan Bergman, 11 months, in lap of her mother, Mrs. Richard Bergman, is wearing a Swiss dress, and Mrs. Harry Finch shows daughter Adela, 18 months, a toy dachshund from Japan. Display at Library. The pamphlets will be on exhibit at Princeton Public Library.

along with a booklet, "The Politics of Trade," prepared by the National League of Women Voters. The booklet is also on sale at Princeton bookstores. PRINCETON'S HIGH SCHOOL Chair is invited.
Princeton's High School
Chair is the only American group invited to attend the Youth Festival to be given this June by the Music
Council of West Berlin.

State Department officials have been conferring about the question of transportation funds, and Thomas Hilbish, director of the choir, hopes for an answer within a few days. If the choir can once get to Europe, there are other singing engagements it has been asked to fulfill after the Berlin appearance, according to Mr.
Hilbish.

The choir recently had to refuse an invitation to sing
next summer at the International Western Festival at the World's Fair in Seattle.

NO COLLEGE BOARDS
For Nursery School. Applications are now being accepted for three and four year olds
who wish to enter the Nassau Cooperative Nursery School
next year.

The school meets five days
a week in the Friends First Day School on Quaker Road, off Mercer, with a vacation schedule that corresponds to public school vacations.

There are two groups, each with its own teacher and helping mother, and there are no quotas set for religion, sex or economic background. Tuition is $20 per month. Applications may be obtained from Mrs.
Bernard Goldstein, 19 Marion Road East, Princeton.

MEDICAL PROGRAM SET
For Nassau Inn Meeting. Dr.
Saul Klugman, professor of pediatrics at New York University, and Dr. Cullio Barbera, pediatric gastroenterologist at Children's Hospital in Philadelphia, will be the guest speakers at a special meeting of the Central New Jersey Society of Pediatrics. It will be held this Thursday at the Nassau Inn.

Dr. Klugman will describe his work in the field trials of the new measles vaccine, while Dr. Barbera is to discuss "Factors Influencing Gastrointestinal Motility." Dr. S. Robert Lewis, chairman of Princeton Hospital's department of pediatrics, is in charge of the program.

KAPPA TEA PLANNED
For Country Club. A tea for members of the Mercer County Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Club will be held Thursday at 4 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Charles Taggart, 55 La-cuse Lane.

Mrs. Taggart, president of the club, will also serve as hostess. All members of the organization are invited to attend.

THREE WIN FELLOWSHIPS
From Wilson Foundation.
Three residents of Princeton are among 1058 college graduates who have been awarded fellowships from the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation.
They are: George Akerlof, 384 Stockton Road, Yale University; Lloyd B. Kreuzer, 3 Tail Timbers Drive, Swarth-
more College; and John M. Mc-Kenzie, 3 Lafayette Road,
West, Harvard University.
Each award covers a full year's education and fees at a graduate school of the Fellow's choice and a living allowance of $1500. They are designed to help the recipients begin a career in teaching.

The Foundation is located at 32 Nassau Street. The awards announced this month represent the culmination of the first five-year program
made possible by a Ford Foundation grant of $240,000 in 1957. With the new awards, some 5,000 college graduates
will have started on careers
leading to teaching.

HOSPITAL MAKES CHANGE
In Pediatric Hours. Under a new rule, effective immediately, parents of children who are patients in Princeton Hospital's Pediatric Department may visit them any time during the day or night. The old regulation restricted visiting from 2 to 7 p.m.

Dr. S. Robert Lewis, Chairman of the Department of Pediatrics, reported that the change was in keeping with current attitudes toward the care of hospitalized children.

The presence of parents is a stabilizing factor during periods of stress, Dr. Lewis added.

GENEVA IS TOPIC
Of SANE Committee Meeting. Dr. Homer Jack, executive director of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, will be guest speaker at a meeting to be held Wednesday, March 21, at 8:30 p.m.
in the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Jack's topic will be "Hope and Pessimism about the Geneva Disarmament Conference."

A Unitarian clergyman, Dr.
Jack was a co-founder of the National Committee in 1957.
Dr. Richard Siegler, chairman of the Princeton Sane Committee, will also speak on the establishment of a Peace Center in Princeton. The public is invited to attend.

BUSINESS In Princeton

PAPER CENTER PLANNED
Near Princeton. Union Bag-Camp Paper, one of the nation's largest paper products manufacturers, will build a 55,000 square-foot research center in Princessville Research Park Lawrence Township.

The complex will include a one-story administrative wing, a laboratory chemical laboratory and a wing for packaging and packaging machinery development, to be built on a triangular 33-acre site.

In the two-story section, 250 by 85 feet, there will be facilities for research and development in all phases of pulp and paper, and in the packaging development laboratory, there will be climate rooms designed to test paper products under a wide range of weather conditions.

The desert room will have temperatures up to 135 Fahrenheit and a humidity of 10 percent, while the tropical room will be 100 degrees and 90 percent relative humidity. In the cold room, temperatures will be 30 degrees with a humidity of 85.

The laboratory will accommodate about 150 scientists, technicians and supporting personnel, most of whom will move in when the buildings are completed next year. Construction is scheduled to start within a few weeks. The cost has not been disclosed.

In view of the recent number of thefts and unlawful entries by men posing as employees, repairmen or representatives of Public Service Electric and Gas Company, officials are cautioning housewives to be on guard for such men.

The best precaution against imposters, according to the company, is to require proper identification before admitting any caller. All Public Service employees are provided with official credentials.

If a repairman or other representative of the company cannot show the necessary credentials, it is recommended that the police be notified as soon as possible.

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of President Kennedy's decision to resume nuclear testing in the atmosphere by late April unless a test ban treaty is reached before then?

Where Asked: Palmer Square.

Anthony Marcuccia, Dodge Drive, Treco, driver for Tiger Bus Line: I approve of his decision. As long as Russia broke the agreement and tested its nuclear weapons, why shouldn't we? We were caught with our pants down in the last war; let's not get caught again. We may not have a second chance.

Charles T. Bell, Lambertson Street, Trenton, driver for Tiger Bus Line: I approve of it. I believe that we have to be prepared. Russia certainly is going all out to develop her weapons. I don't approve of these groups that go around and put on demonstrations asking for an immediate end to all testing, such as the SANE group.

Khalil V. Siddiqi, One Mile Road, Cranbury, engineer: I think it was a wise decision, one that should have been made before. I think it was a very late appraisal of the reality of Soviet propaganda machine. It was a good decision but rather late. But I would say better late than never, and I am glad we did it.

Mrs. Edwin H. Drefius, 31 Crestview Drive, housewife: I feel with President Kennedy that we must finally show our teeth to Russia and the last speech he delivered in which he showed the stiff upper lip was the right thing to do. We should have done it before. Unless we take a firm stand, I feel the Russians will just continue to drag it out.

James Bryan, 131 Cuyler Hall, Princeton University senior: I think it came much too late. It was a rather hesitant, pussy-foot action. I think it should have been announced as soon as the military necessity for more testing was realized which, as far as I have been able to determine in my reading, was not in the last few days. I think it revealed a lack of confidence in the part to act. As for the bit on "unless an agreement is reached," I think it is highly unlikely and to put this on as a condition is merely to raise people's hopes without chance of fruition.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gambin, 103 Cuyler Road, housewife: I feel it is very tragic that we have this incredible force which nobody can use peacefully and that we have to resort to this sort of thing. But I feel there is so much at stake that he had to make this decision to test again.

Conrad J. Gutbrodt, 133 Mountain Avenue, land surveyor: I think it is in keeping with the security of the country. I think it is extremely necessary to resume testing in order to keep ahead of Russia in the arms race.

To proceed with an experiment where the unknowns of personal suffering are not at all understood, is to presume that we have the right to use the world's population as part of our nuclear laboratory. No claims of "military necessity" will remove this presumption on the part of any nation which tests in the air that all men breathe.
This fact remains a weight on our conscience independently of the whether reliance on such methods is actually corroding that system of values—both our love of freedom and our concern for the value of individual human personality. Even if we disagree as to whether the end of security can be attained by further testing, we still must ask whether the end ever justifies the means.

There will be those who will criticize such remarks as being unpatriotic, maintaining that one should support government decisions once they are made. But true patriotism does not require support or even silent acquiescence to immoral acts performed by the state.

Indeed it was a false patriotism which enabled the German people under the Third Reich to remain silent when they should have been speaking out against those immoral acts carried out in their name. Indeed it is my belief that true love of country requires democratic protest against the immorality of exploding nuclear devices in the air. Those who argue that we must have conformity of thought on such a crucial issue simply because the government has already made its decision are denying the very democratic basis which makes our country such a wonderful place to live in.

A PHS Sophomore Writes.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Recently Princeton High School in compliance with the state Board of Education ruling, raised the minimum week physical education, drivers' education, health, and first aid requirement to 150 minutes. This prohibits, because of time factors, a program including six academic subjects if one of them is a laboratory science. This is because a laboratory science requires seven periods a week, instead of five, the usual number for academic subjects.

The extra time is taken from periods left vacant by physics, ed. and corresponding classes which previously occupied only three periods a week. Now that the requirement in physics, ed. has been raised to 150 minutes, the high school administration considers it necessary to have four periods of gym and health a week, thus eliminating the two needed periods for a lab science.

There are several possible solutions to this problem. First, since the minimum requirement is only 150 minutes of gym and health, three 50 minute periods instead of the three 45 minute periods now given would fulfill it.
Another I appeal to the state Board of Education to permit after-school and intra-mural sports as a substitute for regular gym classes. A third solution is to make special exceptions for students desiring a program with room for only three periods of gym per week. Finally, the high school could make it possible to take first aid, health and/or drivers' education in summer school as a full-credit, instead of a remedial, course.

In view of these various solutions, it would be a shame if, for a mere 15 more minutes of phys. ed. a week, physically handicapped students should be deprived of a well-balanced program. For example, under the new system, some students, for the sake of 15 minutes of gym, would not be able to take physics in high school, or would not be able to take a second foreign language. Especially in this age of science, it is in the national interest to develop as many scientists as possible.

Quarry's Plans Protested.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Kingston Trap Rock should not be allowed to tunnel under Laurel Avenue and open a huge new quarry site for the following reasons:

(1) The quarry is a non-conforming use under the Franklin Township zoning code and hence may not expand into non-conforming property; the present and proposed quarries are separated completely by a county-owned road.
(2) The quarry is a nuisance and a hazard to the community. The blasting damages homes, the trucks are a menace on the roads, and they have refused to take public safety measures such as fencing the quarry.

(3) The proposed site is one of the loveliest places of land in Franklin Township, heavily wooded with a spectacular view. The quarry will strip the land, horribly scar the landscape, and deface the southern corner of the Township. Imagine Laurel Avenue with a gaping quarry on both sides—perhaps a bit like the George Washington Bridge spanning a monstrous pit full of piles of dirt and huge rock crushers.

(4) The Master Plan has suggested that this area eventually be used for research and other high-class rateables. Expansion of the quarry will permanently ruin any such possibility. No research firm nor quality home builder would consider coming into the area.

(5) Neither the public nor the Franklin Council was informed of this proposal; in fact, such a move was expressed by Trap Rock representatives at a Princeton Township Committee meeting on February 20, 1961 attended by Franklin Council and Mr. Sommers. This expansion is obviously NOT in the public interest and will seriously affect not only Franklin residents but those of Rocky Hill, South Brunswick, and Princeton Township as well. Yet it has been voted on favorably by the County Freeholders with no public notification whatever.
Now is the time for the public to speak up and the Township to enforce the zoning code, before Kingston Trap Rock quarry is allowed to expand its operations indefinitely and remain a detriment and hazard to the entire community.

WINNING WITH WORDS
At Valley Road School, An ex-marine is fighting a battle for coherent prose at Valley Road School these days. Eugene N. Doherty, who saw action with the First Marine Division and the Marine Air Group in the Philippines and in China, now leads about 200 seventh and eighth Grade students past the lurking ambivalences of English composition and he keeps it lively.

"Just as I went off the jump, I felt my ski strap break," he starts them off. The youngsters, pencils poised, carry on from there.

"As I fell through the air, I remembered two days ago, one student wrote in his first attempt.

"After I was rescued," began another.

Mr. Doherty, who seldom despairs, gently peels layers of inhibition from his students, teaches them to work for images of end and touch, to listen to conversation, to mimic their thoughts, to weed out "dead words" and, roughest of all, to meet the climax.

the pupils are writing extra compositions at home. They corner their teacher with, "I had this idea..."

"They hang around my door until I've gone over it," he says and his grey-blue eyes sparkle in a way that must nightly encourage many a delicately-balanced young ego.

New Topics Tried. The children are unaware that they have been, in a sense, attending the New School of Social Research in New York City right along with Mr. Doherty. He tries out his night school themes on them and is gratified most of all by their response to the topic, "proud words".

"I had a quarrel with my sister and I said proud words," is a thought given to the students to weave into a composition.

tion. They set to work to describe the signals of the oncoming battle, the proud-angry words, the ensuing remorse. One child concluded, "Proud words wear long boots. You can't call them back."

He prods them. "How did he look? What did he say? How did you feel? What was it like? Describe the expression in his eyes."

He reads to them from such books as "Rabble in Arms," "Don Quixote," "Mutiny on the Bounty," and "The Red Badge of Courage." He reads poetry.

With his encouragement, the student gains insight into writing. By the time he is mastered out of the course, he no longer suddenly remembers, as his chief character hangs from the cliff with one hand, that he'd forgotten to include any description and so inserts "How lovely lies the sunset on the lake below." His work is organized and he writes quickly.

For their themes, the children could find a variety of material in their teacher's own life. In his half-empty right sleeve rides the specter of combat ferocities at Mindanao and Zamboanga. He has coached two football teams to state championships during his years at Montpelier (Vt.) High School and Ruelle Park (N.J.) Jr. High School. He's a propagandist for Isaac Walton, as his by-lying club at the school attests.

A citizen of Montpelier gave him a half-acre of land so that he'd be sure to come back — and he does, to summer school at Middlebury College. His wife, Helen, was the mainstay of the family during his student years at Rutgers. ("She still helps," he says. "She corrects my spelling.")

His personal theme, in discussing the special composition course, is that he finds it "very rewarding work." He cites the day he read his class a poem in which a negro mother, from the darknesses of her own life, finds words of courage for her son.

"Did you understand?" Mr. Doherty asked a girl.

She replied, "It makes me want to go home and put my arms around my mother."

Why the "new look" in phone numbers?

New numbering system rapidly being introduced

To meet the great growth in phone service, a new numbering system (All-Number Calling) is being introduced throughout the nation. With the new plan, numbers replace letters in telephone numbers. For example, a number like 555-2368 might take the place of KL 5-2368.

WHY ALL-NUMBER CALLING?

Today, with more and more people needing phone service, there soon won't be numbers enough to go around, under the present setup. All-Number Calling is needed to open up hundreds of new numbers, to provide more service for more people.

Many New Jersey communities have already switched to all numbers. Thousands of other people are also changing over, one-by-one—as phones are installed or moved to new addresses. Eventually, every phone number in the nation will be all-number. Then, letters will disappear from dials, making dialing simpler.

PLEASE KEEP A RECORD OF CHANGES More and more numbers you call will be all-numerals. It's a good idea to note them in your personal numbers list. If you'd like a handy booklet for numbers you call often, just call the Telephone Business Office.

SPORTS In Princeton

COURT FANS ARE WAITING

For "Next Year." You can bet it down as definite right now that the Dillon Gymnasium will be sold out in advance for most of Princeton's basketball games next season. The trend was in evidence before the recent campaign was over; for example, nearly 2000 spectators were on hand for the freshman game at New York University and Princeton—a interesting contest that the Tiger cats won, 102-74.

The drawing card is Bill Bradley, a 6-5, 205-pounder, resident of Crystal City, Mo., who very probably is already the best basketball player ever to play for Princeton. He is appealing because he is neither a gangling 6-8 character who stuffs his shots into the basket, nor a rabbit-gaited, 5-9 "runner" who runs away from his defender and pops steadily from the outside. Rather, Bradley is a picturesque combination of grace and agility, and he blends these qualities with basketball skill to engineer some of the most intriguing lay-ups ever seen in Dillon Gym.

Twice an all-American while playing for his hometown high school team, his reputation has grown steadily during his first year at Princeton despite the ordinary 16-4 record compiled by the Class of 1965. By the time Coach Eddie Donovan took his team to Cambridge, interest in the game at Harvard, where basketball has never been even top-grade Ivy level, was such that the starting time was rescheduled to avoid conflicts with other athletic events.

Crowds at the freshman games here were of unprecedented size and by the time Bradley was rounding out his first season during the first weekend in March, he was drawing cheers and applause every time he sank a foul shot. The reason he was in process of running his consecutive streak in free throws to 37, and the scoring grew so secured as if the pressure was on every one but Bradley.

Build-Up Is Intense. Forty-eight hours after the season ended, a photographer over-sided on Duke over Princeton drawing cheers and applause every time he sank a foul shot. "We knew all about Princeton," the Oxford man is supposed to have said, "but Duke? Duke of what?"

However true, the implication was clear that if he was interested in furthering his education at Oxford, Princeton was a good place to begin it. It was late summer when Bradley swung his thinking back to Princeton—a decision that seems certain to have far-reaching effects on Ivy League play and attendance for the next three years.

Teenybop Team Player. As Dillon Gym fans watched the freshmen play this winter, shouts of approval for Bradley's field goals were often matched by shouts of amazement for those he didn't make. Generally defended by two men when shooting, he passed off steadily to unguarded teammates who dropped the ball through the hoop unmolested.

from Sports Illustrated had big Missouri going through his parents' letters to find out just how much when he was portrayed as one of these sophomore, in this basketball world, it is likely to earn all-American rating. Already, Sports Illustrated has named him as the successor to Ohio State's Jerry Lucas and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson.

This is tremendous pressure for a youngster of 19 to withstand but Bill Stryker, Director of Sports Information at Princeton, has complete faith in his ability to do so. "He's the kind of guy who can shake off all the noise and the newspaper clippings," Stryker says. "Princeton is a quiet, unassuming place. Publicity won't make a bit of him."

Colleges Interested: 75. The search for basketball talent among America's high schools reaching the degree of intensity that it does, it is not surprising that the number of colleges desiring his future plans with Bradley numbered 75 in the weeks before he reached his final decision, six remained under consideration: Duke, Mississippi, Northwestern, Princeton, St. Louis and Yale.

The choice then narrowed to three: Duke, Princeton and Yale. Princeton proved the final pick because of its fine Woodrow Wilson School of International Affairs, which Bradley feels will give him the best possible grounding in an intended career in foreign service.

Accepted at Duke, he originally planned to go there, although the report was that his father had told him to Princeton when North Carolina colleges were involved a year ago in basketball scandals. At one point last spring, Bradley had actually rejected Princeton and planned on matriculating at Duke.

Then he spent the summer abroad, and, among other places, visited Oxford with a view to discussing post-graduate work there. The story, possibly somewhat apocryphal—came back that he was asked at Oxford where he planned to go to college in America, and he replied that he had determined to complete five more years. Ominously, Bradley was benched by an injury before the very first game of his freshman career. Tape bound too tightly around an ankle left his Achilles tendon sore after a practice session, and he sat out the contest with the Rutgers freshmen.

Thereafter, however, he was ready. The point-totals began to accumulate, the game average to hover around 30 and the word began to spread. His individual high for the season was 35 against Rutgers in a return game but his greatest performance came against Seton Hall, when he hit for ten points in a five-minute overtime period to lead his team to victory over one of the top freshman quintets in the east. His 308 points on the season broke by 92 the freshman scoring mark held by Captain-elect Art Hyland. Over a season of 23 games—the average varsity schedule—he seems a sure-fire bet to top the University record of 501 that Pete Campbell set as a sophomore.

A Marked Man. Bradley will, of course, draw special under-the-basket defenses to pare down his effectiveness. Pledged to replace Al Kaemmerlen as the Tigers' chief rebounder, he'll have to watch his personal foul totals, because if he's on the inside, where the flash of an arm often draws a referee's whistle, that most of the violations are called.

Princeton will not, of course, win virtually all its games merely because Bradley arrives at varsity status—nor is it at this far-off stage even the favorite to capture the Ivy title. The fact that the freshmen lost four times despite the presence of one above-average material is proof that balance must supplement brilliance.

Bradley is, however, something of a phenomenon in that his ability to so clear-cut that he ranks as the best basketball player in Princeton history while still a freshman. This is probably true of just four other athletes in their sports: George Dunlap in golf, Dick Sisler in baseball and Hobey Baker and Hank Botfield, general.

Starting with him next winter will be Hyland, as fine a back court field general as Princeton ever had; Bill Harlow, a regular this year; Rick Wright, the "sixth man" on this season's varsity; and a this player—possibly Chuck Berling, who averaged 20 points as a teammate of Bradley's. Months before practice begins on November 1, a new coach will be named as the permanent successor to the late Cappy Caggin.

Good as he is expected to be, the problems attendant to launching a new coaching regime will have their bearing on the season's success. Nonetheless, a full supply of evidence is at hand that basketball at Princeton is on the threshold of an intriguing new chapter.

HOCKEY CLUB WINS

Beavers Whacked, 7 to 3. A game in which the combined ages of the opposing goalies totaled 100 was won by the Princeton Hockey Club Saturday in Baker Rink. Victim by a 7-3 count were the Beaver Dam Beavers of Locust Valley, L. J., the outcome crowning the victors as 1962 champions of the Winter Club Ice Hockey League.

League rules require that the average age of a team must be 30, that no more than six players under 30 may be on a squad and that no one under 22 may participate. As Mrs. Peter Cook, wife of a 46-year old member of the new champions' second line, wrote in her dispatch to TOWN TOPICS'S Sports Desk, "the rules are somewhat unusual and older players are cherished."

I CAUGHT HIM MYSELF! Douglas C. Bayern is 8 years old and weighs 62 pounds. During a recent vacation in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, he caught this black tip shark, age unknown, weight 145 pounds. The shark is seven feet six inches long and he fought Doug for 45 minutes before the young fisherman finally landed him. He landed him, what's more, without assistance from anybody in his first deep-sea fishing venture. Doug, who is in the third grade at Valley Road, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Lawrence Bayern, 152 Terhove Road. His father is a fisherman, too, but he's never caught anything like this.

With the visiting Beavers by scoring three of Princeton's goals. Three other one-time captains of Tiger hockey teams (Pete Erdman, Chuck Weedon and Harry Rulon-Miller) played for the victors, as did Norm Wood, a former Harvard captain.

Other goals were credited to Weedon, who scored twice; Erdman and Bill Schluter. In addition to these players, others on the Princeton squad are Pete Rossmaster, Dave Mergow, John Matthews, Sandy MacFarland, Bevis Longstrech, Dave Erdman and Archie Browne, forwards; Sumner Rulon-Miller, Fred Schluter, Dave Osterbride and Jack Gulick, defense; and Luke Mackay, goalie.

MacKay is 43 and Kip Farrington, in the nets for the Beavers, is 57, thus accounting for the full century of life between them. The trophy which goes annually to the winning team was presented by Farrington. On Saturday night, it was filled with champagne at a dinner for both teams at the Peter Erdman home, on Sunday, its 18-inch diameter was a comfortable "home" for the Erdman baby, sitting cross-legged.

In addition to the Princeton Hockey Club, teams in the league's southern division are the Essex Foxes of Far Hills, the Main Line Hockey Club of Villanova and the Wissinoming Skating Club of Chestnut Hill. The Beaver Dam Beavers in the northern division are associated with the Bronxville Hockey Club, the Darien Hornets and the Greenwich Hockey Club.

CHAMPIONS WON

By Hun School. Fencers, Coach Michael Wang, and Don Sieja led the Hun School foil team to first place in the 8th Annual New Jersey Interscholastic Fencing Association Tournament in Dillon Gym last weekend. The team was presented with the Dr. Gerald C. Cerullo Memorial Trophy.

At the end of the 17-team round robin foil competition, both Hun and Butler High School had 48 points. Hun awarded the title, however, because only 156 fencers were scored against them, compared to 186 against Butler. Sieja, son of Stanley Sieja, Princeton University fencing coach, was undefeated in the team competition.

Young Sieja went on to score a 9-0 sweep in the individual foil championship in the evening events. His total score of 25-0 in both team and individual matches was the first complete sweep in the 38-year history of the Tournament.

The Hun sabre team finished fourth in that division, five points behind Hampton Regional of Franklin Lakes, which won with 14 points. Lawrenceville finished third in team sabre, and sixth in team foil in all, 89 fencers from 18 schools to part in the all-day affair which included 634 individual bouts.

Changes to Be Made in Two Holes of Springdale

Partial reconstruction of two holes on the Springdale Golf Course, contemplated for more than a year to allow for expansion of the Graduate College, will start this month. Completion is scheduled by June 1.

Because of a parking lot which will be cut into a portion of the third hole from the present tee along Springdale Road as far as Hackett Road, the hole will be shortened. In the words of club president "Coble," Sturhahn, "it will now be a tough par 4 instead of an easy par 5. The new length will be about 400 yards instead of 513. Par for the 18-hole layout will now become 71.

The direction of the second hole will be altered, and it will be lengthened from 140 to about 170 yards — remaining a par 3. The new green will be built to the left of the present green, about equidistant between that and the present sixth green. The alterations will be made with little inconvenience to the membership. Sturhahn reports, "For a period of about ten days this spring," he said, "it may be necessary to play to the temporary second green while the turf is being transplanted from the old site to the new one."

The altered direction of the second hole is planned as a temporary expedient, and playing field south of the Graduate College. The existing playing field of the Graduate College and Springdale Road will be used for the major addition to the Graduate College.

William F. Gordon of Dayton, Ohio, the architect for the redesigned holes. He was associated with the firm which was responsible for the present 18-hole layout, completed while Gerard B. Lambert was Springdale's president in the 1920's.

Groninger will be assisted by Dick Wood and Tom Murray. In eight dual meets last season, the L. de Tiers won five and lost three. The high point was the upset victory in capturing the Central Jersey meet at Asbury Park.

News Of The CHURCHES

DR. PARKER TO RETIRE

From First Baptist. The Rev. Dr. William T. Parker, pastor of First Baptist Church since October, 1930, will retire at the end of this month. A reception in his honor is being planned by the members of the church for Thursday, March 23, under the direction of Mrs. Ozell Simpson.

Dr. and Mrs. Parker plan to stay in Princeton and will move around April 1 from 36 Green Street to 417 Alexander Street.

"We would like to take it easy for a while, just relaxing and visiting with friends," Dr. Parker said. "Then maybe later on we'll do a little traveling."

Dr. Parker's long service to his Princeton church received special recognition in October, 1930, when a two-day celebration was held in honor of his 30th anniversary as pastor. The program included three church services, with the Rev. J. Norman Martin, director of the Baptist Conference Center in Lehigh, N. J.; the Rev. E. F. Webb of Jersey City and the Rev. O. D. McGowan as speakers, and a testimonial banquet given by the church members.

In October, 1930, at the time of his 30th anniversary, Dr. Parker was TOWN TOPICS' choice as "Man of the Week." Pointing out that he had just accepted the membership of his parish since taking over the pulpit, the article cited him as "one of the community's best-known citizens," who merited the esteem of all of Princeton.

Grandson of a Slave. Dr. Parker was born in Thomas, Ga., the grandson of a slave and the son of a farmer who had been into slavery. At the age of 8, he attended a religious meeting near his home and made up his mind to become educated.

At the age of 20, with only $21 in his name, he left home and enrolled in the first grade in Butler, Georgia. He then proceeded to work his way through several schools, earning the necessary funds by chopping wood, doing deck

JUBILEE MASS FOR FATHER HENRY: The Rev. Edward C. Henry, pastor of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, celebrated a solemn high mass last Sunday in observance of the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. The Rev. Robert F. Murray, director of the Aquinas Foundation of Princeton University, was speaker, and priests from area churches assisted. Among guests were members of the Knights of Columbus, shown coming down the aisle. Other activities in connection with Father Henry's silver jubilee included a solemn high mass for children on Monday and a musical program Monday at 1 p.m. at St. Paul's School. Father Henry, who was ordained in 1887 at St. Mary's Cathedral, Trenton, has been pastor of St. Paul's since June, 1930. (TOWN TOPICS photo by Richard W. Steiner)

work on a dredge, and serving as a pullman porter.

Dr. Parker received his B.A. degree from Georgia State College, his M.A. from Colgate University, and his Doctor of Divinity degree from Virginia Theological Seminary and College.

He served in Baptist churches in New York and in other parts of New Jersey before coming to Princeton. In addition to his work as pastor, he was director of religious education for the Afro-American Baptist and the New Jersey Baptist Conventions and also worked with the Baptist Young People's State Convention.
